Event: Seminar on 'Our Census, Our Development'
27th April, 2026

The Self-Enumeration Awareness Campaign is being successfully and systematically organized from April 16th to April 30th, 2026 under the auspices of the Hindu Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Jind Census Committee. A one-day seminar was held on April 27th, 2026 with the theme 'Our Census, Our Development'. It is noteworthy that seminars and workshops on self-enumeration have previously been held on April 16th, April 17th and April 20th, 2026. The primary objective was to raise awareness about the census among students, teachers and other sections of society and to ensure greater participation in the self-enumeration process. Various awareness activities were organized during this seminar and students were provided with detailed information related to the census. In this context, all staff members posted pamphlets related to the census on their social media accounts and distributed them to the students, explaining in a simple and clear manner the self-enumeration process, its necessity, benefits and the process of registering on the online portal. All the college teachers played an active role, not only registering themselves on the self-enumeration portal but also encouraging other students to participate. With their guidance and inspiration, approximately 243 students registered on the self-enumeration portal. The students enthusiastically participated in the campaign, understanding the self-enumeration process and ensuring their participation. This entire awareness campaign was conducted under the chairmanship and guidance of the college principal, Dr. Poonam Mor. Addressing the students, the principal highlighted the importance of self-enumeration, stating that the census is a crucial foundation for the country's planning process. Therefore, as citizens of India, it is our moral responsibility to fully support this government campaign. 60 college staff members actively participated in this, registering themselves on the self-enumeration portal. The Census Committee's nodal officer, Dr. Neelam Rani and co-convenor, Dr. Sushma Garg and Mrs. Arti Saini played a significant role in the successful conduct of the program. Their skillful guidance, coordination and continuous efforts ensured the successful completion of this campaign. This campaign not only increased awareness about the census among the school students, but also spread a positive message to society that the census process can be made successful only with the participation of every citizen. The students played an active role in this self-enumeration awareness campaign, distributing census-related pamphlets among the public.
